

Introduction

The concept of home and identity is a profound and complex aspect of human experience, especially in today's globalized and interconnected world. Pico Iyer's TED Talk, "Where is Home," offers a compelling exploration of these themes, inviting listeners to reflect on their own sense of belonging and identity.

Lesson Overview

This lesson plan introduces students to Iyer's ideas, encouraging them to engage critically with the concept of home and how it relates to their own lives and experiences. Through a combination of discussions, multimedia presentations, and creative projects, students will analyze the complexities of home and identity in a globalized world.

Teaching Script

---

Minute 1-5: Introduction and Icebreaker

- Introduce the concept of home and identity, and ask students to write down on sticky notes what comes to mind when they think of "home."
- Facilitate a class discussion to share thoughts and listen to peers' perspectives, highlighting common themes and encouraging students to consider the diversity of experiences within the classroom.

Minute 6-10: Presentation of Pico Iyer's TED Talk

- Show Pico Iyer's TED Talk, "Where is Home," with guided questions distributed beforehand to focus their viewing.
- Questions might include: What are Iyer's main arguments about home and identity? How does he define home? What role does globalization play in his discussion?

Guided Practice

---

The guided practice section of this lesson plan is designed to support students in developing a deeper understanding of the concepts of identity and belonging as explored in Pico Iyer's TED Talk, "Where is Home." Through a series of teacher-led activities, students will analyze the literary text, apply multimedia and ICT skills, and cultivate critical thinking and creativity.

Analyzing the Concept of Home

- Lead a class discussion on the concept of home, using Pico Iyer's talk as a reference point.
- Students will be asked to identify and analyze the different ways in which Iyer defines home and how these definitions relate to their own experiences.

Multimedia Representation

- In pairs, students will brainstorm ideas for a multimedia project that represents their understanding of home and identity.
- The teacher will circulate to offer guidance on how to effectively use multimedia tools to convey their message.

Independent Practice

---

The independent practice activities are designed to cater to different learning needs and abilities, providing students with the autonomy to explore the topic of identity and belonging in depth. Each activity includes clear instructions and success criteria to ensure students understand what is expected of them.

Beginner Activity: Reflective Journaling

- Students will maintain a reflective journal over the course of a week, writing daily entries about what home means to them.
- They will consider how their sense of home and identity changes or remains constant throughout the day, influenced by interactions, environments, and personal reflections.

Intermediate Activity: Multimedia Project

- Students will create a multimedia project (video, podcast, infographic, etc.) that creatively represents their understanding of home and identity.
- The project should incorporate elements from Pico Iyer's TED Talk and demonstrate an application of ICT skills learned in class.

Subject Knowledge

The subject knowledge section delves into the fundamental concepts and applications related to identity, belonging, and globalization, as explored in Pico Iyer's TED Talk, "Where is Home."

The Concept of Home

- The concept of home is multifaceted, encompassing physical, emotional, and psychological dimensions.
- It is shaped by personal experiences, cultural background, and social interactions.

Globalization and Identity

- Globalization has profound effects on individual and collective identities.
- It facilitates cultural exchange, migration, and digital connectivity, which can both enrich and challenge one's sense of belonging.

PLANIT
TEACHERS

Exploring Identity and Belonging in "Where is Home" by Pico Iyer

---

Extended Knowledge

---

Exploring the concept of identity and belonging as presented in Pico Iyer's TED Talk, "Where is Home," offers a rich terrain for in-depth analysis and application. One key example of extended knowledge in this context is the examination of cultural identity and how it intersects with the concept of home.

Conclusion

---

In conclusion, exploring identity and belonging through Pico Iyer's TED Talk, "Where is Home," offers a profound learning experience for 17-year-old students. By applying multimedia and ICT skills to create a creative representation of the literary text, students delve into the complexities of home and identity in a globalized world.